HELLO! From Fr Marty

"Our greatest business in life is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, yet to do what clearly lies at hand."

Thomas Carlyle

We continue to welcome you back to Church!!!

We all have gifts and talents, yet it amazes me how gifted some people are. We are very lucky to have some money to repair the lights in the church. They have never been replaced since they were first installed. Yet as time goes by, they age and then they stop working. When you see the lights this weekend you will marvel at how amazing they look. The work men who installed them were true professionals and they actually care about their work. As the church is a special and holy place, I could sense they took great pride in their work. Small blessings are always a bonus in this crazy world at this time.

November Masses

As we approach 'All Souls Day', I suggest you find ways you can ask those you love to intercede for you, so that your prayers may be offered to God.

In an age where it is easy to overlook prayer, I want to encourage you to make an intention to those who know prayer profoundly and intimately, now they are with God, to intercede to God, on your behalf. Mass intention envelopes are in the church and in the parish office. It's only a few weeks away, so start to prepare.

What are you grateful about today/this week?

Kids are so funny. They are so curious about the board room. So they have started to make shrines in front of the sliding doors.

Reflection on the Gospel

It's a very challenging Gospel this weekend. Possessions and being able let them go. Mark 10: 21

And Jesus looking upon him loved him, and said to him, "You lack one thing; go, sell what you have, and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me." 22 At that saying his countenance fell, and he went away sorrowful; for he had great possessions.

This might be something you could reflect upon in terms of this. It is always good to have a different perspective. As Fr John Chalmers would say, a good Catholic carries the bible in one hand and a newspaper in the other.

Marie Kondo has been sparking a lot of chatter thanks to her trademark tidying methods.

Following the release of her new Netflix series, "Tidying Up with Marie Kondo," the tidying expert faced some criticism from folks online who took issue with her suggestion to pare down their book collections. Others weren't so fond of her popular "spark joy" concept, which encourages people to keep only the things that make them happy, as opposed to encouraging people to just buy less stuff.

Another method that stands out is the act of thanking each individual item — whether it's a shirt or a pair of shoes — for serving its purpose before getting rid of it. We couldn't help but wonder if this concept is helpful on a psychological level.
